"GEE WHIZ . . . the water's cold today", says little Jerry Martin of Crescent playground.

THE INCREASE in student enrollment this fall at Warren high school has forced the reopening of the third floor of the structure after its closing about 30 years ago.

When school opens Wednesday, September 4, there will be an influx of over 1,000 students, a figure which well surpasses the June enrollment of 837. There were 259 graduating seniors, but the gain from Beaty is listed at 423.

This has required the renovation of the third floor to accommodate the student body until a new high school is built.

Pictured is the entrance of the upper story. The railing encloses what was formerly a dome opening over the auditorium balcony. It was covered over to save heat. The lights shown were used to lighten the balcony.

BLOOD is needed . . .

UNDEFEATED PITCHER for the Ludlow Wildcats is Fred Gray of Warren. The workhorse of the Ludlow mound staff, Gray has chalked up 11 of the Cats' 17 wins this season. Over a two-year span, Gray has won 19 and lost none for Ludlow. Last season he won 8 games before an injury forced him out of action for the Wildcats, and he finished the latter part of the schedule with the Warren Elks.

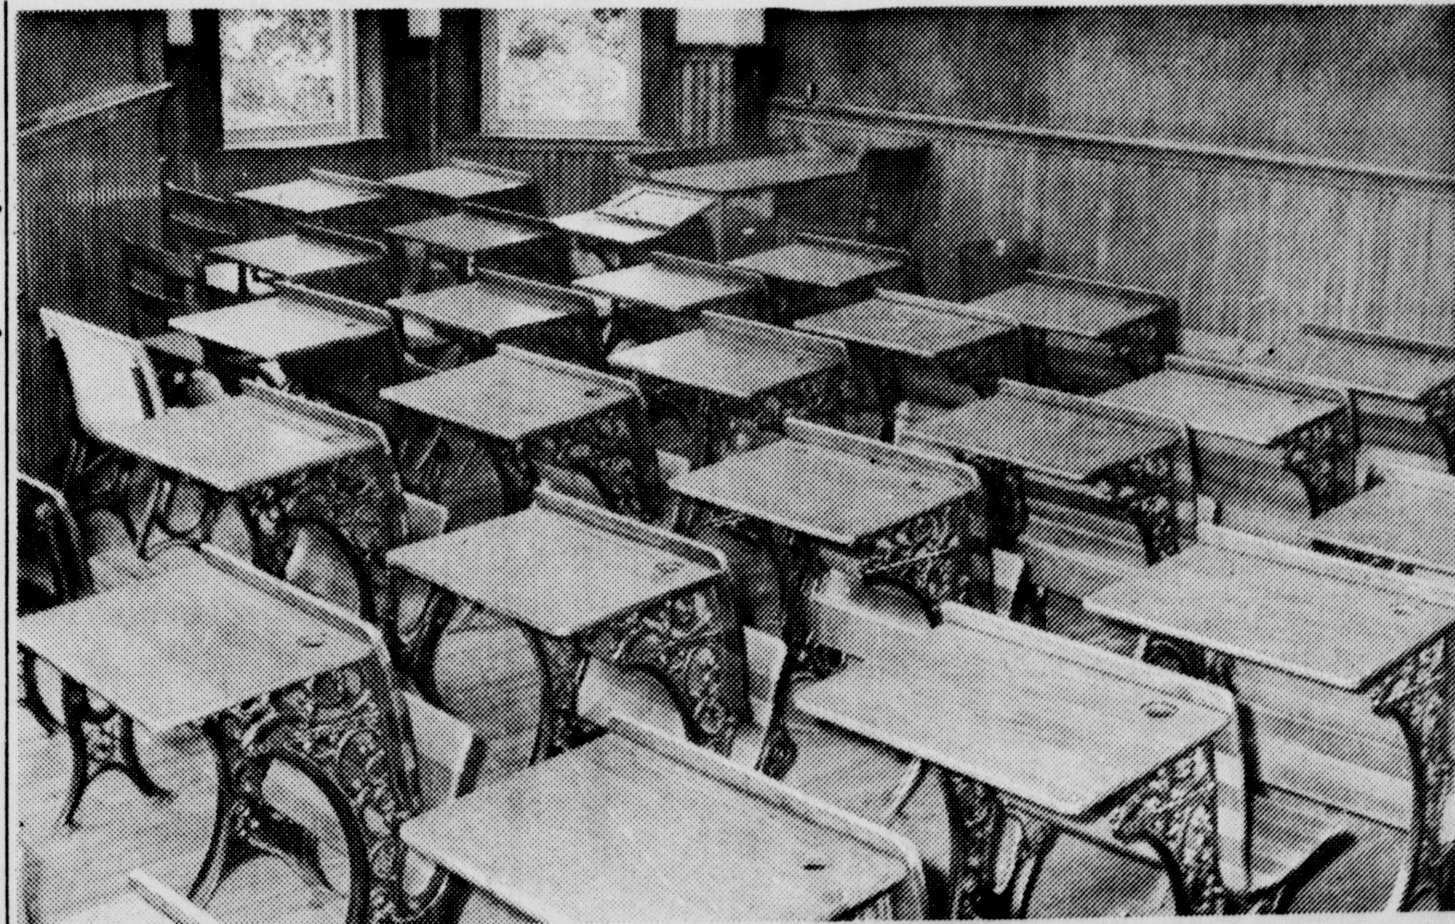

BIOLOGY will be instructed in this third floor room, one of five which will accommodate approximately 150 students. The seats are elevated.

ALGEBRA II, world history and distributive education will be instructed in three classrooms similar to this. They are all corner rooms and have windows on two or three sides.

Mainly business arithmetic will be taught in the fifth room.

School employees have nearly finished the remodeling project, leaving the erection of a new fire escape on the Market street side the big item before completion.

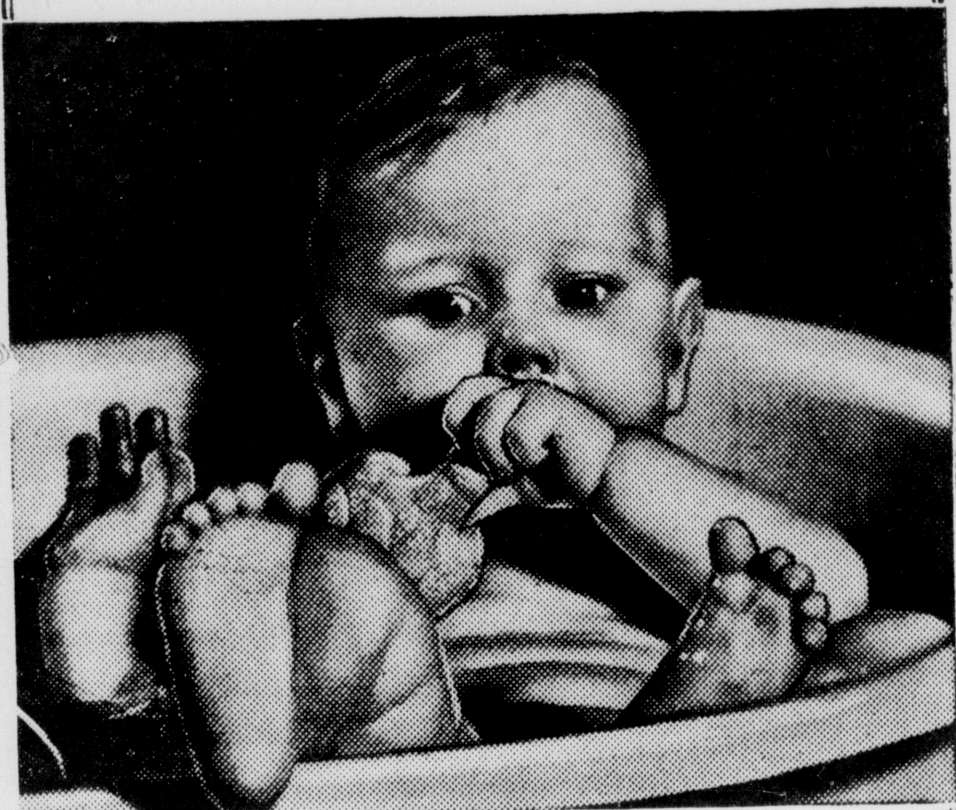

THE BLOODMOBILE IS COMING

MAKE A DATE TO GIVE

(One of a series of at-home helps for health and beauty)

At the Foot of the Situation

Two happy, carefree feet—a little young to travel alone. But before many years pass, their youthful owner will begin to realize the value of keeping them fit . . . Physical comfort is so dependent on the well-being of the feet.

For proper care of feet, experts suggest submerging them in warm, soapy water for a few minutes each day . . . Then be sure to dry them thoroughly. The soaking and scrubbing helps keep feet in condition for daily activities.

Make this a part of your evening bath and see if you don't "step out" with greater ease.

Observations

By Bob Walsh

RECREATION, $41,000?

With your tax bill, if you reside in Warren, came a little folder which is supposed to tell how your tax dollar was spent in 1956. We believe a portion of this information is very misleading.

Under the heading of "Recreation" the folder says that Warren spent $41,000, using six men for the work involved. This makes it appear that Warren is spending over three mills for recreation. And that is not so!

We do not believe that you can correctly place the maintenance of parks under the recreation heading. General Joseph Warren park and similar areas, of which Warren has several, are used for no portion of recreation, unless you classify bench-sitting as a form of exercise.

The employees of the parks and playgrounds department also spend much time, and a major share of your tax dollar, taking care of trees and doing work that actually comes under street, fire, and police department headings. We estimate that a fourth of their time may be spent doing work that is not rightly classified as even park department service. But they are paid out of the parks and playgrounds funds.

Calling all of this "recreation" expense is extremely misleading and is fuel for the fire that some would like to set under "recreation" expenditures. You see, as a taxpayer, you must remember that we have councilmen and leading citizens who do not even believe in playgrounds, despite the obvious disappearance of empty lots on which boys and girls may play. They apparently believe the streets are good enough, though they were far from good enough even in the horse days and certainly are not the place for young feet today.

The distribution of parks and playground money does not justify placing it under the single-word heading "Recreation". We doubt if a full mill of Warren money went into actual recreational work. We except, of course, any money spent for land. This kind of expense is capital and cannot be used to estimate annual operating expenditures. It happens very seldom in this borough and should be prorated over a period of years.

THE MINIMUM

We object to the $41,000 figure for several reasons, one of which is that Warren actually is doing little more than the minimum in this field. And the actual expenditure of $41,000 on recreation would give us more than the minimum.

You can't get much more basic than playgrounds. Up to this year Warren has done no more than provide these, and for only two months out of the entire year. The value of play areas will be found in the revelation that communities which have extended the use of such areas have enjoyed a corresponding reduction of juvenile problems.

Thanks to some quiet maneuvering and a wind-up by the Junior Chamber of Commerce we have three tennis courts which also serve as an ice skating area when it is cold enough. And a private drive is being made to raise money to revamp the youth canteen next to the YMCA. A very small amount of tax money is going into this. Contributions are paying the construction bill and the state is laying out most of the supervision cost.

We put much emphasis on this because people are sure to be saying that Warren is doing a job on recreation that compares with leading towns in this field. They will point to the $41,000 figure. That figure is not correct unless you count park department labor used for police, fire, and street department work, and for such items as trimming the trees in front of your home, mowing the grass, and trimming the rose bushes in areas whose value is more esthetic than athletic.

ASIDES

NOT A CHANCE

We don't give the Civil Rights bill a chance this year. It is too loaded with trick sections and paragraphs which make it objectionable to too many people.

You may not have heard about it but the press will be fighting the bill enmasse once it wakes up to the fact that Section 102, Paragraph G, makes it illegal for a reporter to write about the events which occur during an executive session of the proposed commission unless he has permission. If he violates this law it can cost him $1,000 or a year in jail.

This angle is just beginning to get attention. It makes the bill a target for so many people and groups that it possibly will be tabled for a year so that something less objectionable can be written.

BILL'S DRIVING RANGE
Starbrick, Pa.

Advertising

BLOOD CLOT CURE AND NEW BONES

Two Yale doctors have come up with an anti-clot enzyme that has been successfully tested on animals. It is about to be tested on humans. It dissolves the clot and returns the blood to normal within a very few hours.

This reminds us of a new bone material that has been developed from animals and can be used on humans. It even is used to fill holes left by pulled teeth, and it may have other dental uses before the researchers are through.

But its big feature right now is the value it would have in the case of a major disaster or war. Our human bone banks would be depleted and animal bones might be needed to keep the nation on its feet.

FOURTH AVENUE COSTLY

Early this year we wrote that it would be costly for Warren to resurface Fourth avenue. We proposed that our elected representatives be asked to have it taken over by the state. But some councilmen insisted on the resurfacing at a cost of about $15,000 and told us that the state would not take such a step.

We spent the $15,000 this summer, better than a mill of money that could have been spent on some unpaved street, of which we still have too many. And while we were spending the money the state was adding Fourth ave. to its highway system, thanks to Assemblyman Allen Gibson, Senator Leroy Chapman, and a few alert local officials who saw the need.

SEWAGE PLANT ACTIVITY

Warren and Oil City apparently are "in" as far as federal money is concerned for the construction of sewage plants. Bradford has named five men to act as its sewage authority board and is planning to proceed. It is including services for some nearby township residents.

Meanwhile, the word from Harrisburg is that this time the state means business. The old maneuver of stalling by making token steps, such as waving paper plans and hiring an engineer to draw lines, will get them no more than a two year-breather. Then those plans better be the real thing because the state is expected to crack down.

Some seem under the impression that they can save money by stalling and letting the state do it. Anyone who has watched the cost of everything rise steadily knows this is false reasoning.

State officials are well aware of the financial condition of many small communities. For this reason the state has accepted federal help and these funds are available for those who act now. They will pay up to thirty per cent of the cost. After this amount has been deducted from the bill the state will pay two per cent of the total cost each year, which means about twenty-five per cent of the annual payment on a bond issue.

There is no community in Warren county so poor that it can't meet the resulting cost by the easy means of paying monthly sewage rentals. No tax increase should be required.

LET'S BE HONEST

Why doesn't our State Department admit that the qualification for diplomatic service is wealth? This must be used to contribute to a political party and to pay the cost of the office.

Our President was placed on the spot recently during a press conference when he was faced with the fact that Maxwell Henry Gluck knew nothing about the Ceylon ambassadorial post to which he was being appointed, but he had contributed $26,000 to the Republican war chest.

This is a sorry situation for a nation which must play a major role in international politics. The diplomatic corps suddenly has become our front line and the men serving there should be well informed and not appointed for the thickness of their purse.

We need to appropriate more money for such offices so that all expenses can be covered by the government. And the ambassadors should be career men with full knowledge of their job.

Today we must start thinking of our national prestige rather than that of ambitious millionaires who want to add diplomatic color to their record.

In this atomic age these are touchy posts. They no longer are playthings to be bought like a county political plum. The wrong move by some guy who may have no greater knowledge than a quick way to make a buck could plunge us into that big one all of us dread.

GLASGOW OBSERVER

All the Observers are not in Warren county or in America. We have a copy of the Glasgow Observer, published July 5, 1957, and very much like the American papers of a few years ago.

It is eight columns wide and has the old width columns. Apparently the Scots are not concerned about paper economy, despite their national reputation. It also has three ads on the front page, two of which are in the upper corners. One of these advertises a menswear hire service and the other tells of Bell's Scotch whiskey. The third talks of wine.

However, the main item concerns the ordination of eight new priests, who are pictured. One of them is Fr. Michael McCabe who has been appointed to St. Patrick's in Anderson. He is related to Nettie E. and Ella M. McCabe, of 337 Hickory st., Warren, whose husband and father was a leading restaurateur in Warren for many years.

BUYERS' CORNER

NEW OIL RESERVES

America's largest oil reserves are not in liquid form. The practical sale of gasoline made from minerals that are crushed, transported by pipeline, and refined, already is being done.

The American Gilsonite Company is in the business, and you may be sure that it is not a small, independent outfit that is putting up the money. We believe that one of Standard's many branches is in on this one.

So far the sale is localized in the west. The reserves are equal to thirty times the liquid reserves in this nation and five times the world reserves. Which suggests another reason why we do not need to import oil.

WRONG PRICE

Last week we announced that two homes are being built in this area with electric heating. We were a quarter cent off on the price to be paid for power serving a home in this quantity. The price is 1-3/4 cents a kilowatt hour. It is estimated that the annual bill for one of these homes will be no more than $180. Of course the heating bill in any home will depend on its size, insulation, and relative factors.

GAS MOVES ALONG

Meanwhile, gas is undisturbed by this new threat to its heating field. At least its growth is not disturbed. Gas utility and pipeline operators approached the six billion dollar mark in the year ending March 31. This is a gain of $468 million, or a jump of 8.5 per cent. Thirty million customers were paying the bill.

HELP YOUR DRY CLEANER

With the many new fabrics that are available today it is not surprising if your suit comes back with a short leg or your dress looks like wilted lettuce after a trip to the dry cleaner. You can help him by clipping the garment tag and its special cleaning instructions to your garment. And if you want a stain removed, tell him what it is, or attach a note.

STAY WELL THIS SUMMER

Food spoilage may cause illness even when food shows no signs of spoiled odor, taste, or appearance.

Marjorie Wormeck, extension nutrition specialist of the Pennsylvania State University, urges storing custard and cream pies or cakes with cream filling in the refrigerator if you must keep them more than four hours before serving.

Dishes containing eggs, milk, meat, gelatin, poultry, and fish must be kept cold to prevent spoilage. Soft protein foods, especially those handled in preparation, cause summer food poisoning. Cream-filled or custard-filled pastries, mild-cured ham and other pork products are other hazards.

FOR PICNICS, TOO

They now have a radiation detector that you keep around the house just in case you want to measure such things as the cat's tail or the refrigerated and electronically tested malt beverages. It weighs only two ounces and measures two by one and one by one and a quarter . . . inches, they mean.

It is weatherproof, fungusproof, shockproof, and non-breakable. But it sounds so darned small you probably won't find it when you need it most, as you would if your radiant hour hand was lost and you wanted to use the detector to see what might be lodging in junior's tummy.

In fact, if your pride and woe lit up like an atomic test you probably would know where the two, by one, by one, by one thing without a tube up like an atomic test you probably would know where the two, by one, by one, by one thing without a tube or a battery had gone.

APICULTURED CANDY

When the beekeepers hold their eastern meeting in Penn State this month, August 23 and 24, and buzz about their honey, they may learn something that will mean greater earnings. Professor E. J. Anderson, professor of apiculture at Penn State, is a leading authority on making candy from honey, and he has over a dozen recipes for filling your sweet tooth with bee juice.

These have been tested by home economics experts and most important, have pleased many home candy makers, and eaters. Those who make candy commercially are showing much interest and if the bee boys don't bumble they may be sitting in clover.

Sticky, aren't we?

and Sally Newmaker.

Special event winners this week were Bob Rice, Eddie Schmidt, Doug Angove, and Lane Donovan.

This Thursday the junior team goes to Titusville. Next week the regular play will be on Thursday instead of Tuesday.

* Tim Creal led the men CVCC golfers this week with a 36. Bob Anstadt led the second flight with 35, Jack Lutz the third with 36, and Hans Link the fourth with 38.

* Toby Lyons won the Western New York PGA championship for the fourth time Monday when he fired 70-69 for a total five under par over a Rochester course. He credited his return to an old putter for his big day on the greens.

* Mary Conarro fired an 82 to lead the lady swingers. Ellie Voigt had the shot of the day when she played the par four ninth in two, sinking an iron shot following a good drive. She was among the low nets in division one, where Helen Culbertson and Mary Conarro were tied for first.

Other net winners were Jean Crossett and Betty Cannon in the second and Polly Schmidt and Ardi Kremer in the third.

In the special contest, Merle Lawson was closest to the seventh hole pin. Romaine Ericsson and Charlotte Calderwood were second and third.

ONE-WAY TRAFFIC presents a hazard to motorists travelling through Pleasant twp. Washouts have caused the guard rails to loosen, requiring blockades extending from the Zinger service station to Fuller rd. (the length of a long city block).

In addition, residents are concerned over the some 50 to 70 youngsters who must walk past this area during school hours.

Allegheny Is Washing Pleasant Twp. Away

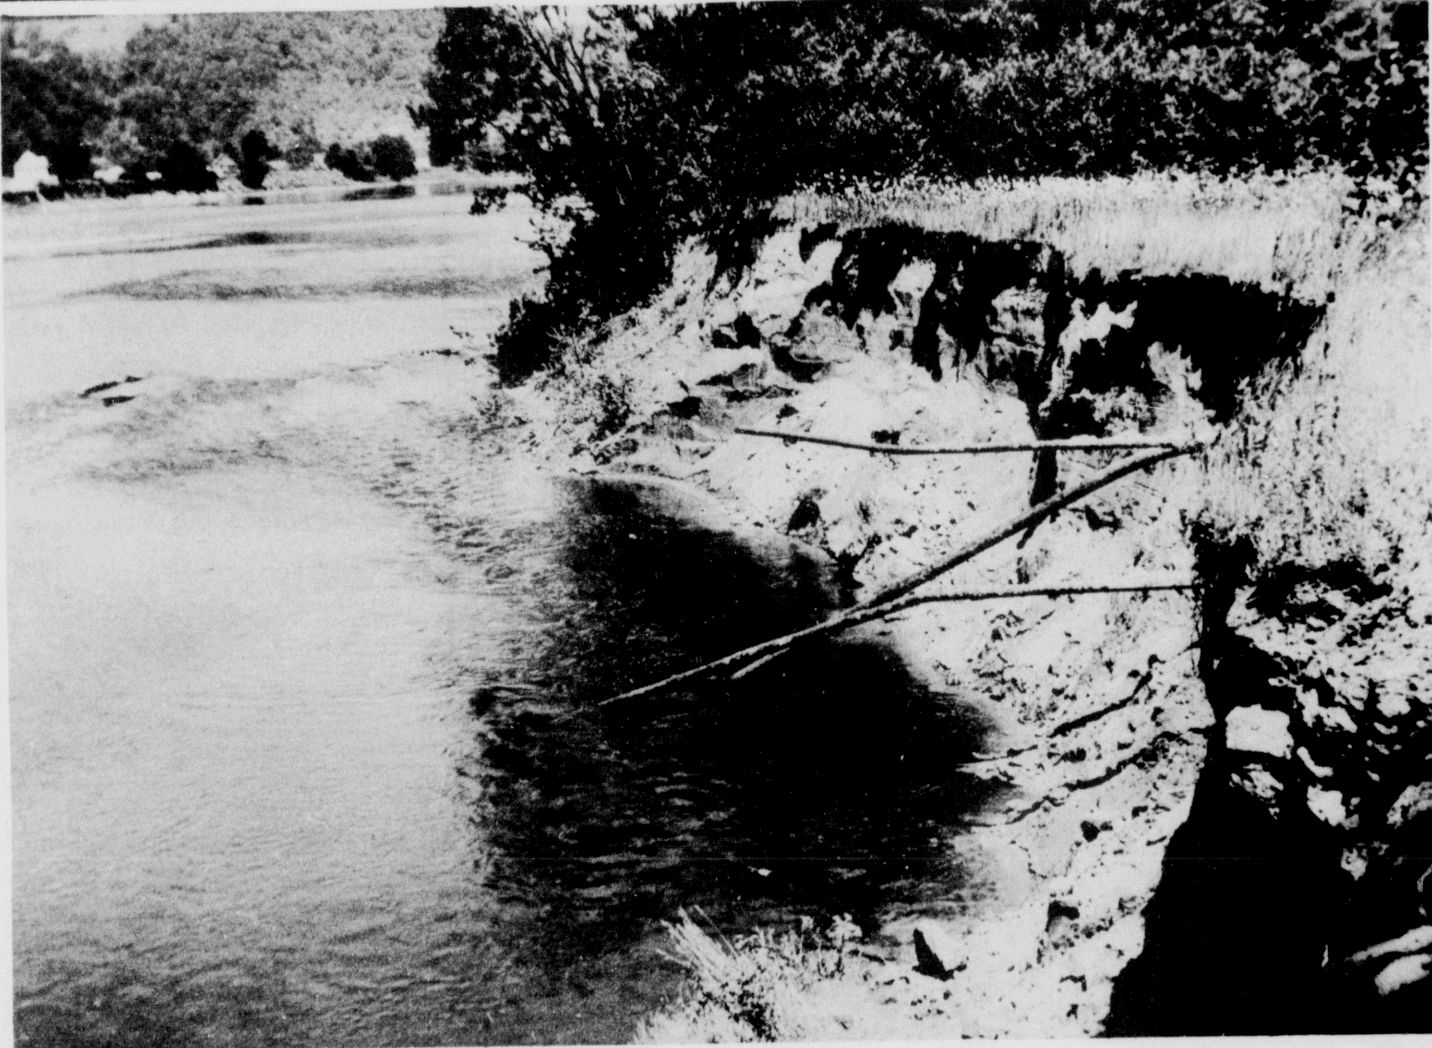

Angered over the fact that the Allegheny is washing the Pleasant twp. river bank away at several locations, the supervisors and residents of the area have decided to curb further destruction by presenting the matter to the state.

For some years now the river has been slashing against the Pleasant bank opposite the Warren airport, and has gradually washed it out to the point it has become hazardous at certain spots. (See accompanying photos by Bairstow Studio).

The trend of the river has, with time, switched its course because of the bend of the airport. Headed in a straight course half way down the West Side, the river suddenly is forced away toward the opposite shore and has dug a new bed. Unfortunately the Pleasant bank cannot stand-up against the steady flow of the Allegheny.

And this was all realized some decade and one-half ago when the engineers decided to rip out the nearly completed dyke that had been constructed around the airport (a portion of dyke still holds the West Side bank west of the port).

The engineers reasoned then that the water would be forced away from the airport wall and would be detrimental to the opposite side. Dyke, or no dyke, it should have been foreseen that the present situation was to come about anyways. The airport wall should have been left standing and similar protection been given the opposite side.

AT THIS SITE in Pleasant twp. last April. The distance of the pipe the Allegheny River has washed from 60 to 70 feet of the bank away. These gas lines were cut off and moved

As much as 90 feet of ground has been worn off at the Thompson, Kuhre and Knudegard properties situated on the river site.

FOREGROUND is the former river bed. The Allegheny River has now changed its course to the far side where it is gradually washing the bank away.

The main flow of water has been changed because of the bend at the airport, which prevents a straight course past the west side.

It would also have been wiser from the flood stand point, as a dyke along the airport might have stopped the high waters from flowing directly over the port and back over the lower West Side.

This is now past and the people of Pleasant must stage their battle now to have the river dredged and embankments strengthened.

In Brief

MORE MONEY is needed by the Dr. VerMilyea Memorial Fund which now totals $840 of the $1207 needed for the purchase and installation of chimes in the Russell Methodist church in memory of the late doctor of that community. The chimes have been installed and in a test last Tuesday were heard for a radius of a mile.

So far 314 Dr. VerMilyea babies have registered. The first 500 babies to register will receive a free memorial booklet containing the names of the babies and other items. Miss Mildred Wiltsie, of Russell, can be contacted by those wishing to give or to be registered.

NEW PROBATION OFFICER for boys in Warren County is John L. Stachowiak, Warren high school Latin and English instructor. He was appointed by the directors of the Warren County Probation association to replace A. J. McDonnell, who is assuming his duties as the new acting assistant principal of Beatty Junior high school.

A graduate of Kings College in Wilkes-Barre, Stachowiak has been teaching in Warren since 1950. During this period he has been especially active in youth activities. He has served as program director of the Youth Canteen since 1951, been a member and past president of the Canteen steering committee, Hi-Y advisor, YMCA rifle instructor, and leader of numerous school activities.

An active member of the Jaycees, he has spearheaded several youth projects, and served as a playground supervisor.

IT WAS REPORTED at the recent Warren County Probation association's directors meeting that the 1956 campaign put on by the Warren Rotary Club to add $5,000 to the Permanent Endowment fund of the organization has been successful with $5,415.30 paid to date.

The statement was made by treasurer E. C. Rasmussen who reminded the directors that none of this money is spent. It is all turned over to The Warren Foundation, Inc., as a Permanent Endowment Fund and the income is returned to the association and paid to the Warren County Commissioners to help pay the cost of improvements in the probation system for juveniles.

CHARGES were placed against William Houston, Warren, after he collided nearly head-on with a second vehicle about 9:15 p. m. Tuesday near the Pennsylvania ave. and Liberty st. intersection.

According to police Houston was proceeding west on the avenue when he met with an oncoming auto driven by Russell G. Grosch, of R. D. 1, Clarendon.

Total damage was estimated at $800.

A TRIO OF ACCIDENTS were investigated by state police over the past week end.

The first took place at 9:30 p. m. Friday three miles east of Warren on Route 6 where Ren Yonker, Johnsonburg, struck the rear of a vehicle operated by Wayne Shawley, of Clarendon. The latter had stopped on the highway to make a left turn when the mishap occurred. Damage was figured at $700.

At 12:30 a. m. Saturday four miles west of Sugar Grove on the Lottsville rd, Richard Paver, Corry, rolled his car over on the highway. Authorities reported the accident was caused when the operator left the road when an oncoming car approached and was unable to regain control. Paver, along with Irvin Foster, also of Corry, were taken to Corry Hospital with back and chest injuries respectively.

The intersection of routes 666 and 948 at Barnes was the scene of the third crack-up involving Steven B. Giancotti, 16 S. Carver st., Warren, and Margaret Kerner, Ridgway. It was reported that the Warren man pulled out of the side road into the path of the Kerner auto, which was proceeding on the main route. No one was injured in the accident, but about $450 damage was caused.

ATTENTION. State police of the Warren barracks remind all school bus drivers that school buses will be inspected at the local station on August 19-20-21 between the hours of 9 a. m. and 4 p. m.

Floor mats and tires should be in good condition, the bus should be absolutely clean and all equipment should be in Class A condition.

It should also be noted that operators' examinations will be given from 10 a. m. to 3 p. m. on August 21.

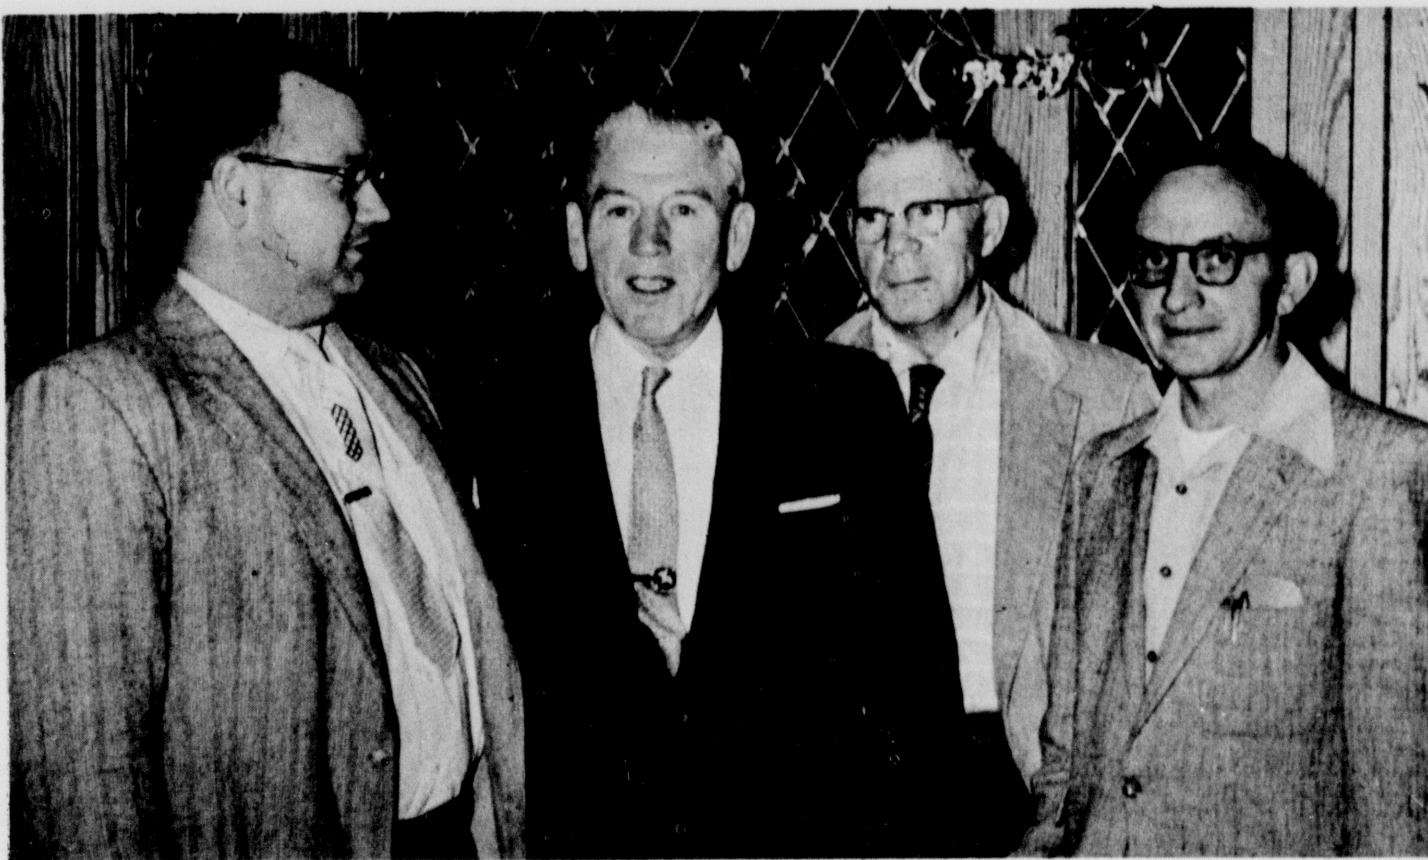

OVER 8,200 YOUNG PEOPLE of the community visited the six playgrounds during last week and another 400 took advantage of the new play area for the little tots that just opened on the West Side off Fourth avenue.

WARREN COUNTY FARMERS started on an auto tour this morning (Thursday) that took them from the Henry Jaquith's farm near Spring Creek to the Windy Hill Farm just south of Titusville. The trip was arranged by county agents to give area farmers better knowledge of rotation grazing and a view of labor-saving devices and equipment for making high quality hay.

PERSONALITIES. Nels Anderson, of the Warren Rotary Club, returned recently from the International Rotary convention in Luzerne, Switzerland. He reported on his visit at the local service club's meeting Monday and brought along a banner from the Amsterdam, Holland, club. The Warren Rotarians will return the courtesy.

Dan Goldthwaite, a science teacher at Beatty Jr. high school for the past four years, has been awarded one of fifty full scholarships to the Academic Year Institute to be held under the sponsorship of the National Science Foundation at the Pennsylvania State University for the academic year starting September 1.

BIG WEEK-END SALES. Over 40 Warren merchants are participating in the big "dollar day" sales to be held in Warren this Friday and Saturday under the annual Chamber of Commerce promotion.

ADVICE FROM AN EXPERT. James Finnegan (second from left), Secretary of the Commonwealth, who served as campaign manager during Adlai Stevenson's campaign for the presidency, gave Warren County's Democratic leaders tips on how to increase the Party's registration strength. His advice was based on years of experience in Philadelphia politics where he developed a weak Democratic Party into a powerful influence which has won every citywide contest in the past several elections. The Secretary's audience is composed of (left to right) Lewis Crippen, County Commissioner and Secretary of the Warren County Democratic Committee; Thomas H. Conway, and Delbert W. Anderson, committeeman from Warren's third ward and Pleasant Township, and vice chairmen of the Warren County Democratic Committee. Chairman Robert Clark has called a meeting of the Warren County Democratic Committee for 8 p.m., August 13, in the Pittsfield Community Center.

Others who attended the registration kick-off meeting in Sharon were: Mrs. Victoria Pequignot, of Tidioute; Mrs. Doris Hewitt, of Russell; Duane E. Wilder, of Irvine, Jack Larson, Mrs. Helen Long, Mrs. Mary Conway, and Thomas Donnelly, of Warren, and Chester Walker, of Clarendon.

OATS WERE HARVESTED at the State Hospital farm during the week. Favorable weather this summer provided an oat crop in excess of last year's crop which was reduced by excessive rain. The oats here matured before the usual August dryness set in.

State hospital workers have already taken in a good first hay crop and are hoping for a good second yield. County agriculture agents report some farmers already are getting a good second hay crop.

NEW ACTING ASSISTANT principal of Beatty Jr. high school is A. J. McDonnell, a member of the local school system for the past several years. He succeeds Thomas Barratt, who has taken over the duties of supervising principal of Sheffield schools.

Mr. McDonnell has also been serving as Warren County probation officer, but has resigned from this position due to his additional school administrative duties.

CHANGE IN OWNERSHIP of the Sorenson Shoe Repair Shop under the old bus station on Pennsylvania Avenue, W., took place when (l. to r.) Peter and Howard Sorenson handed the keys of the establishment to Ben Magiello. The Sorensens have been repairing shoes at the same location since 1924 when Peter Sorenson opened the shop.

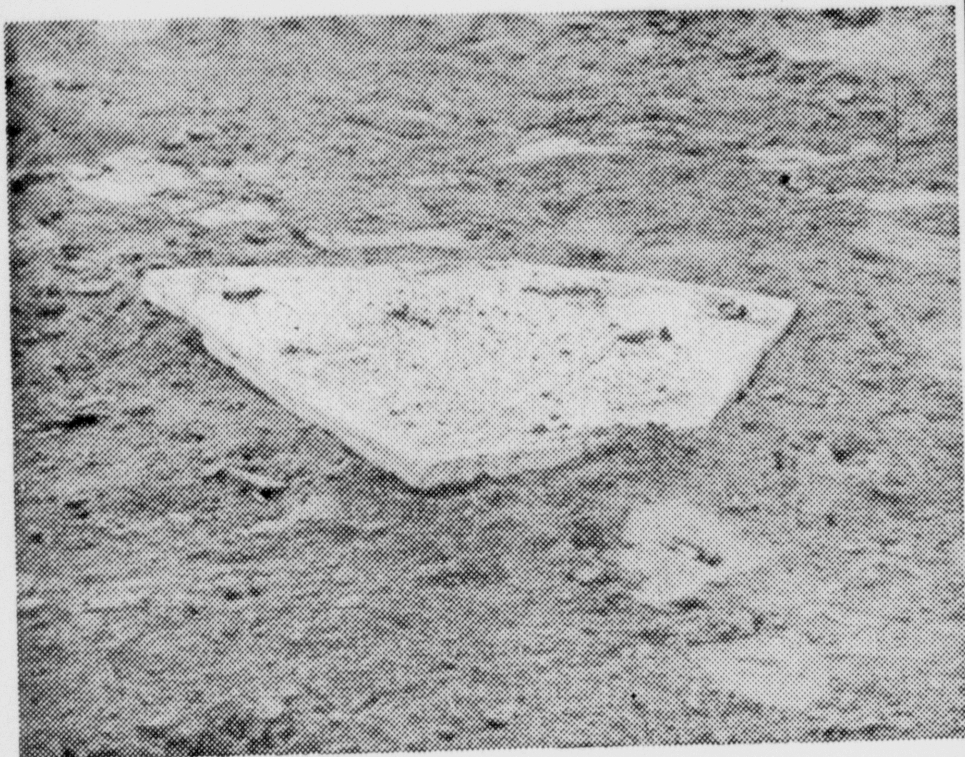

A native of Mercer, Mr. Maniello has been working at his trade in Albuquerque, New Mexico for the past 10 years.

LEG BREAKERS. The highlights of the Industrial softball season might well be that no player has yet broken a bone sliding into or even tripping over home plate at the West Side or Memorial Field diamonds.

At the West Side, the rubber home plate, which is coming loose in one corner, sticks above ground three-quarters to an inch on all sides. The wooden platter at Memorial Field rises above the surrounding earth a half to three-quarters of an inch on all sides.

At both fields the plates are situated on mounds made by batters digging in at the plate all season.

A busy borough Park Department with too much work during the summer for too few working hours or men cannot hope to put these diamonds into tip-top playing condition.

But the Industrial league could remedy this situation and have better playing conditions with only one to two hours work each week. And the work could be divided up so each player would have to work as ground-keeper only once or at the most, twice each season. And the Park Department would probably be more than glad to supply the necessary tools.

LATE SPORT...

NEWELL PRESS scored in every inning and bombed Seneca Lumber 22 to 8 in a Midget League contest. Riggs and Alexander, both 5 for 5 at the plate, paced the winners' 25-hit attack. Kurz and Peterson hit round trippers for the Printers. Kays, Smith and Peterson was the Newell battery. Burke pitched and Dahl caught for Seneca.

TEXAS HOLDS FIRST PLACE

Texas Lunch turned back Nino's last night 12 to 10 to boost their second half record to 6 wins and 1 loss. The win put Texas a full game ahead of the second place clubs, Culligans and Jones, and dropped Nino's to fifth place with 3 wins and 4 setbacks.

WARREN COUNTY HISTORICAL BUILDING AVAILABLE ON FORMER BIDDLE ESTATE

By Lewis Crippen

The United States government through the U. S. Forestry Service has offered the stone house at the juncture of Routes 6 and 62, near Irvine, to Warren County for an historical building. If it is not claimed, however, it will be used as a residence for employees of the forestry experimental station which is proposed for the near future.

E. M. Bacon, Forest supervisor, has disclosed that the use of the building will be given to Warren County if arrangements can be made for repairs which will cost approximately $3,000. The adjacent grounds will be cleared and a parking area and picnic tables installed.

The Warren County Historical Society, although desirous of exploiting the offer, feels its limited finances would make such a project impossible of realization. The Society would be pleased to cooperate with any other organization in developing the plan if the money could be raised.

“THIS OLE HOUSE”, used recently as Stone House Gift Shoppe, was originally built for tenants who were employed on the Biddle Estate. It is now available to Warren County as an historical building. The Warren County Historical Society would like to have such a building to display Indian lore and records of the first settlers but the financial obligations of repairing the structure seem too high for an organization with such limited income. The offer has been made by the United States Forest Service but will not hold forever. The time to act is now!

Mr. Bacon suggested that some individual could sell souvenirs in the building and earn the rent by keeping the historical displays clean and in order. A small admission could be charged to cover maintenance and expansion.

Warren County, rich in Indian lore and in a mecca of natural beauty, might profit greatly from such an attraction to tourists. With the U. S. Forest Service invited to develop an experimental station and recreational area it can be safely assumed that success would follow the establishment of a Warren County historical center.

ALONG THIS BANK OF THE BEAUTIFUL ALLEGHENY, the U.S. Forestry Department plans an excellent picnic area. Such a development will hinge on the clean streams orders which must result in a sewage disposal plant for Warren borough. The quicker such a disposal plant is in operation the quicker the Department will push plans for the recreational development.

HAS PLANS FOR BIDDLE ESTATE. E.M. Bacon, forest supervisor, located in Warren, has suggested that a forest experimental station be developed on the land of the Biddle Estate in Irvine which was willed to the government more than thirty years ago. If the plans materialize, as proposed by Mr. Bacon, it is possible that a great boost can be given Warren County's attractiveness to tourists.

MEMORIES OF YESTERYEAR still linger at the deserted mansion of the former Biddle Estate. Built in 1860 by William A. Irvine (grandson of General William Irvine) for his daughter, Margaret Irvine Biddle, the property contained 600 acres. When Mrs. Biddle died in 1925 it passed to her surviving daughter, Lydia Spencer Biddle, who willed it to the United States government to be used for a park, forest land reservation, and game preserve, with the provision that her niece, Margaret E. I. Newbold, would have life use of the property.

Lydia Spencer Biddle lived in Washington, D.C., with only occasional visits to Warren County, and the will is hand written and bears the signature of Oliver Wendell Holmes, Associate Justice of the United States Supreme Court, as a witness. She died in 1929.

Now the Forestry Service plans to use the building as headquarters for a forest experimental station. The land, which stretches from the Allegheny River to the Brokenstraw Creek and across Route 6 to the top of the adjoining ridge, will give ample room to carry out the provisions of the will that the land shall be utilized for park, forest land reservation, and refuge for birds and animals.

At the mouth of the Brokenstraw, a boating area will be established. The bank of the River will have picnic tables up to the bridge on Route 62. A new road will be built this fall from Route 6 at the entrance formerly used to the mansion which will give access to the entire area.

THE REAL THING

Everyone laughs when we say we have press passes to the International Dairy Show to be held in the Union Stock Yard, Chicago, October 9 through 20. But anyone who likes good stock and who enjoys the real thing when it comes to rodeo events will find this worth the trip.

There must be many in the area who would enjoy much of this annual event. There is championship rodeo competition nearly every evening at 8. This includes bronco riding, Brahma bull riding, calf-roping, and steer wrestling.

For the farmer there is much of interest. There is the dairy show, dairy city, country home show, farm equipment show, international quarter horse show, dairy-equipment show, and similar features.

There will be a dairy princess and a rodeo queen. Also a western town, with all the old west built into it, including colorful square dancing contests.

The young people will be in the middle of it, too. There will be a 4-H cattle judging contest, and a dairy products judging contest for dairy science student teams from state agricultural colleges.

There also will be purebred dairy cattle sales and a quarter horse sale. You can eat steaks western style in the Sirloln Room where the steak is born.

It will be a farm and ranch spectacle that should interest most anyone. We would enjoy covering it as a reporter and appreciate the free passes, which we no doubt won't use, though you never can tell about editors.

If you should want to attend, the cost is not heavy. General admission is only 75 cents, and reserved seats, for the sixteen rodeos, run from $2 to $4. Make your checks payable to the International Dairy Show, 817 Exchange Bldg., U. S. Yards, Chicago.

And so we earn those passes, we probably will forget by October.

RUSSIANS PAY VISIT

A group of Russians will add a bit of attraction to the Stratford Shakespearean Festival this week. They are taking in the various events in the Canadian city, ranging from "Twelfth Night" to a Count Basie jazz concert. And that is quite a range.

Paying the visit are Michail Tsarev, director of the Moscow Little Theatre, Michail Kosakov, a leading performer in the title role of "Hamlet", and Marina Kuznetsova, one of the Soviet's leading actresses.

They arrived last Friday and will take off this Friday after seeing "Hamlet". They also will have seen the screening of "Stratford Adventure" and "Oedipus Rex" in the Vogue Theatre. They will see a bit of young ham when McGill presents its undergraduate revue, "My Fur Lady".

It sounds like a fairly heavy load of Canada-Americana, seasoned with classic sauce and jazzmint, and we wonder how thoroughly digested it will be by the time the group arrives back in the red glow of Moscow footlights.

MAYBE THEY HOOKIED

Of course some of the Russian group, of which there probably were more than the three principals, probably was busy taking in something other than how an Englishman plays Hamlet or what an American jazz artist does with an off-beat. They no doubt were having a good look on all sides and asking questions.

We have about 160 college boys and girls doing just that at the Moscow Youth Festival. A major share of them used the festival as an excuse to get into the Soviet country at cut rates. They have played hooky from the seminars for which bargain prices were provided by the Russians so that our young people could spend fifteen days attending them. Instead many of the Americans have been gathering lecture material and have been telling groups of Russians gathered on the streets what the UN report said which condemned the Soviet Union for its Hungarian treatment.

COMPLETE TO THE T

The most revealing sports story of the week was the report that the discharged Pittsburgh baseball team manager had watched his former club play while relaxing in the comfort of his home, and also in his T shirt and his shorts. Now this is the kind of news that an eager sportsman yearns for in the midst of an exciting pennant race.

The fact that the deposed manager of a potential cellar club is enjoying baseball on television while reposing in his coolest next to nothingness probably has more bearing on the hot National league scramble than anything an announcer could say about any other sport. Such as the umpteen thousand dollar golf tournament out at Tam O Shanter about which one thousand Warren county golfers would have enjoyed hearing.

But who cares about golf, tennis, the boat races or any other little thing that might be going on when a T shirt holds a manager by his tv set with his shorts . . . on, that is?

A WINNER

A first honorable mention in traditional oils was won by Mrs. I. Bibean in the art festival held at Chautauqua last week. Over 10,000 visitors viewed the display which consisted of professional and amateur work done by several hundred artists from a dozen states.

PLEA FOR IRREVERENCE

"Now the liberal must come to his senses and set his pace against the growing homogenization of American society," writes Arthur Schlesinger, Jr. in last Sunday's New York Times.

"He must realize that the present enemy is not a conspiracy of blandness seeking to grind the faces of the poor, but a conspiracy of blandness seeking to bury all tension and conflict in American life under a mass of platitude and piety—not the hard-faced men but the faceless men. The liberal, in short, must make America safe again for individual spontaneity—and today this is only secondarily a political or economic problem."

Earlier in the article Mr. Schlesinger called for "a rebirth of satire, of dissent, of irreverence, of an uncompromising insistence that phoniness is phoney and platitudes are platitudinous." Mr. Schlesinger's is just the latest of a number of alarmed voices which are all in essence saying the same thing. The enemy is blandness, a fear of offending, a cultivated facelessness which leaves the citizen immune from attack.

In "Commentary," Henry Popkin stated the problem in somewhat different terms. "Right now the great virgin territory being opened up for settlement by the new liberalism is the subject of marriage and adultery. Irwin Shaw, who seems to be a typical liberal without a cause, is one of the pioneers in this field. Leslie Fiedler observed that Shaw, having run through a variety of liberal political attitudes, has arrived at 'the last politics,' an emancipated view of adultery. Fiedler has isolated the peculiar virtues of this position: 'In no other area can we indulge so convincingly in the sense of our own understanding and tolerance. In no other area can we feel so emancipated at so little cost."

"Shaw has been joined by many others. Even Al Capp, the creator of 'Li'l Abner,' has discovered that marriage could stand in the place of politics. In 1952 he announced that Sen. McCarthy was making it impossible for 'Li'l Abner' to continue its free-wheeling satirization of the current scene; consequently, Abner married Daisy Mae and demonstrated that marriage was still a fitting subject for satire."

Just where does television fit into all of this? Well, Popkin points out that in the movie version of "Born Yesterday" the sex was bowdlerized but the politics retained, but in the TV version, under the new enlightenment, the politics was bowdlerized and the sex retained.

"In the play, Billie denounces Harry by exclaiming: 'Big Fascist!' Harry points out the incongruity of the charge to his lawyer: 'It don't make sense. I was born in Plainfield, N.J. She knows that.' The movie let this slip past but television won't stand for a dirty word like 'Fascist.' Obviously only politics is obscene."

In the field of television the voice that has been heard is that of Edward R. Murrow: "If television and radio are to be used to entertain all of the people all of the time, then we have come perilously close to discovering the real opiate of the people." That is not quite an accusation of blandness but it is close enough.

In television the popular fancy has been taken by singers, and what could be blander or more innocuous than a singer lamenting his lost love in front of a camera. The most engaging personality of the past season was Perry Como and blandness is his most conspicuous virtue.

The biggest hit of the season was "Cinderella." The issue of wicked stepmother is sufficiently remote so that all the viewers can watch it without being unduly disturbed. Next year we will be inundated with fairy stories and you can hardly get any closer to a real opiate of the people than that.

SOFTBALL RACE TIGHTENS
Texas Lunch still held first place in the Industrial Softball league with 5 wins and 1 loss after Tuesday night's league play. Culligans and Jones with 4 and 1 slates follow closely on the heels of the first-half champions.

The remainder of the standings show Nino's and Lacy's deadlocked for fourth place with 3 wins and 3 losses, Valones 1 and 5, and Youngs-ville 0 and 6.

A Wednesday night game, which cannot be included in this column because of the time factor, could change the league leaders. Texas Lunch took on Nino's. A Texas win would leave them in first place. But should Nino's win, Texas would drop to third place.

The outcome of this game is in the Late Sport column.

The week's results show that Jones' won twice, beating Valone's 18 to 11 and handing Texas Lunch its first setback by a 23 to 12 count. Culligans got by Youngs-ville 9 to 7, and Nino's downed Valones.

Lacy's evened its second half record by edging Nino's 11 to 10 on Carmen Giunta's ninth inning single and taking Youngsville 15 to 5.

KINZUA DUMPS RUNNER-UP

Kinzua came from behind last Sunday to whip second place Kennedy 11 to 5 and build their lead in Chautauqua County Association play. Kinzua has a 13 and 1 record in league play and Kennedy has won 11 and dropped 3.

The victors overcame a 5 to 2 lead in the seventh inning when they scored four times on a single by Dick Koebley, Carl Peterson's two-bagger, singles by Mike Mohney and Ray Peterson, and a Kennedy error.

Five insurance runs were added in the next inning on singles by Koebley and Mohney, doubles by Tony Prozen and Bill Brown and a walk.

Kinzua pitchers Don Mohney and Ray Peterson limited Kennedy to only five hits.

JAMESTOWN RACER WINS

Joe Sauner of Jamestown copped the first prize trophy in last Sunday's 50 lap midseason championship race for last model stock cars at Skyline Speedway. Sauner was followed closely over the finish line by Wellsville's Dean Layfield. The two drivers have finished one-two in the feature event at the Sugar Grove track the last two outings.

The 25 lap feature race for jalopies was won by Phil Jackson of Titusville. Two Russell drivers, Keith Lundmark and Chuck Martin, finished second and third.

Nine races will be run at Skyline next Sunday ending with a 25 lap feature for jalopies and a similar event for the late models. Race-time at Sugar Grove is 8:30.

CATS DEHORN ELKS

The Ludlow Wildcats built their current winning streak to nine last Sunday at Wildcat Park when they downed the Warren Elks 5 to 3. The victory gives the Cats a season's log of 17 wins and only 2 setbacks.

John Labesky started on the mound for Ludlow but was relieved by Fred Gray in the fifth inning after the Elks had pushed across two runs. Federko caught for the winners. Ken Thompson went the route on the hill for the Elks and Dick Mancuso caught.

This Saturday the same two teams will tangle at the State Hospital at 2 o'clock.

On Sunday, the Wildcats will play the Jamestown Bombers at Wildcat Park at 3 o'clock. Last Saturday's game between these two teams was rained out.

INDUSTRIAL SCHEDULE

GROVERS CLOBBER SHERMAN

Sugar Grove scored five times in the second inning and went on to rout Sherman 13 to 2 in Chautauqua County Association action Sunday. It was their fifth win in league play.

Two walks, a two-run error, singles by Virg Allen and Don Spencer, a fielder's choice, and Chico Donato's double in the second frame gave Sugar Grover hurler Spencer

TE LA DI O

ERA OF THE "SPECIAL"

NBC-TV has dropped "spectacular" from its technical lexicon and announces that the 1957-58 season will be characterized by "specials". The network has scheduled 14 separate series of specials, numbering more than 100 programs and accounting for about 117 hours of viewing time, not counting many sports events coverage.

The varied programs will cover a tremendous range of subjects including drama, comedy, opera, science, literature, interviews with leading statesmen of the day, outstanding news and sports events. The series will include "Hallmark Hall of Fame", fairy tales, anniversary shows, the Bob Hope shows, the Jerry Lewis shows, Bell Telephone System science program, "Omnibus", "Wide World", "Project 20", "Conversations with Elder Wise Men", the NBC Opera, the Las Vegas programs, sports specials and documentary specials.

The first "special" in the new series will be the National Tennis Singles from Forest Hills on Sunday, Sept. 8. The following Sunday, Sept. 15, will feature the first "Wide World" show of the season, "The Challenge of Space", which will relate the story of space and interplanetary research to the International Geophysical Year.

CBS AND ABC ALSO PROMISE SOME GOOD TV FARE

CBS-TV is coming up with a major Sunday series "The Seven Lively Arts", dealing with the world of entertainment in various ways. DuPont is planning a monthly series, and has already scheduled "Crescendo", a musical with Rex Harrison and Ethel Merman. Others will be "The Prince and the Pauper", musical version of "Junior Miss", and "Aladdin".

Lucille Ball and Desi Arnez will do five hour-long shows. Returning with live dramas will be "Playhouse 90", "Studio One", "United States Steel-Theatre Guild Hour", and "Armstrong Circle Theater". The new musical program, "The Big Record", will make its debut and "See It Now" will return for another year.

Also tops on the CBS season schedule will be a science series, "Conquest"; "The Twentieth Century" with a study of Winston Churchill scheduled for October; and the Lowell Thomas series of seven hour-long films on far-away places.

ABC has also acquired some new blood, notably series starring such names as Frank Sinatra, Patrice Munsel, Pat Boone and Guy Mitchell.

After an especially unappetizing summer fare of westerns, who-dunnits, old movies and "repeats", we are looking forward to the 1957-58 menu which the three networks promise to dish up.

MORE CHANNELS

The Warren television line has added two more channels to a major share of its serviced area. The Conewango ave. section, mid-town, and the South Side now can see WBUF out of Buffalo and WSEE from Erie.

LICENSE GOING UP
The cost of a fishing license in Pennsylvania will go up to $3.25 as of September 1, plus 15 cents for the pocket of the gentleman who sells it to you, a total of $3.40. The fee now is $2.50. The new forms will be distributed to about 2,300 license agents this month.

LATER FISHING
The season for brook, brown, and rainbow on twenty-nine lakes has been extended to October 31. Included is Chapman lake, which means that its 78 acres of water, if we get some rain, will be available for this kind of fishing after the season on most streams closes September 2.

It is hoped an earlier fingerling stocking program can be carried out this fall. The result should be a saving in feeding costs with nature doing the providing through the winter. It also will make wilder fish in the spring than if the early stocking is done. And it will avoid the difficulty of getting to streams over the late winter and early spring mud roads.

TIGER TROUT
A new kind of trout popped out of Spring Creek this year when the tiger trout was caught. The largest one was 23 inches and weighed four pounds, nine ounces. This is an experimental cross between the brook and brown.

Fisherman's Paradise was visited by 40,992 this 24th season, and yielded 8,438 large trout. This is not as large a number as last year but compares well with previous seasons. The biggest catch was a 29-1/2 inch rainbow weighing 11-1/2 pounds, caught by Fred Williams, of Gettysburg.

POINTERS ON DOG TRAINING
(Game Commission Release)

The dog training season is August 1 to March 31. Such training is not permissible in the early warm months of the year - April, May, June and July. Most of the young of wildlife are brought forth during that period, and they and their mothers need protection.

So that the law may be complied with and infractions avoided the Game Commission calls attention to these legal requirements.

1. Dogs must be kept under control while being trained. (The Game Law defines "under control" to mean "within call except when actually on the trail or track of legal game".)

2. No injury may be inflicted on game birds or animals.

3. Carrying a shotgun or rifle while dog training is prohibited.

4. Raccoon dogs may be trained from sunrise to midnight; other dogs from sunrise to 9 p. m., Eastern Standard Time.

5. Sunday training, except on public lands, is legal only after the property owner's consent has been obtained.

Dogs may not be trained in Pennsylvania on deers, bears or wild turkeys. A hunting license is not required of persons training dogs on game.

PROTECTED BIRDS

In response to many requests the Game Commission issues the following information on migratory and resident birds found in the Commonwealth.

Most wild birds are protected. Both state and federal laws provide penalties for anyone shooting at, possessing or killing migratory songbirds. In addition, the Pennsylvania Game Law provides penalties for anyone convicted of shooting at or killing game birds except in regular open seasons for hunting. It is also unlawful to possess or interfere with the nest or eggs of any game bird or other protected bird at any time.

State Game Protectors throughout the Commonwealth enforce these laws. They are often assisted by other law enforcement officers such as state and local police who also have power to arrest and prosecute persons who violate the law. Federal officers enforce the laws on migratory birds in the state.

Finally, there are many refuges and bird sanctuaries throughout Pennsylvania where hunting is prohibited and wild birds of all kinds are fully protected. The Game Commission has more than 60,000 acres in wildlife refuges on land which it administers. Perhaps the most famous of these sanctuaries is the Pymatuning Refuge, near Linesville, Crawford County. It covers 2,500 acres of water and 1,170 acres of land, and it furnishes migratory waterfowl a location in which to safely rest and feed on flights north and south. Many migratory birds nest there. Numerous sportsmen's organizations and bird clubs also maintain private refuges.

With modern laws and protection given to all wild birds, it is extremely unlikely that any kind of wild bird found in Pennsylvania will be exterminated in the foreseeable future. But there are some species - the raven, for instance - which are scarce. Even the American (bald) eagle, our National emblem, is not as plentiful in Pennsylvania or on the North American continent as it once was. All birds must have certain natural conditions - primarily food and shelter - if they are to survive. Where man has destroyed these necessities, either accidentally or on purpose, birds cannot live.

Because there are many people today who enjoy wild birds - photographing them, hunting them watching them, listening to their songs - great efforts are made to protect and preserve native and migrating birdlife. Nesting boxes are put up to substitute for holes in hollow trees, trees that were cut down to make room for houses, farms and cities. Many people maintain feeding stations for song and game birds, especially during the winter. Other people plant trees and shrubs which provide foods birds must have. Many birds are beneficial to farmers and all mankind because they eat bugs, worms, larvae and weed seeds.

The people of Pennsylvania are taking great interest in the wildlife of their State. And, more important, an increasing number of persons now provide the basic needs -- food, shelter, water and living space - which wildlife must have to survive.
